

We Are Grateful To You

Thank you for being a part of the email list; if you prefer not to receive further emails, you can unsubscribe below. Wishing you and yours a fine Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

This is a defining year for Indiana Entertainment Foundation; new board, new name, refined mission, two new websites and a streaming all-Indiana music radio station. Collaborations have begun with several fine organizations.

In 2020, IEF will launch a comprehensive Indiana Music History website and bring back the Wes Fest (a live festival tribute to legendary Indianapolis jazz guitarist Wes Montgomery). The above image features the Sunset Terrace, one of the key Indiana Avenue jazz clubs in the 1940's and 1950's, where Wes sometimes played. You can follow progress via Facebook, Twitter, website and email.

Who we're collaborating with...

- Indiana Historical Society is digitizing posters and flyers from our collection that will appear in their permanent online collection and allowing us to provide input on the Starr-Gennett Records exhibit scheduled for March 2020.
- Indiana Memory Project, a division of the Indiana State Library, is digitizing a group of one-of-a-kind photos of country artists from our collection taken in the 1940's and 1950's, mostly at WIBC radio. They'll become part of their permanent digital collection and available nationally through the library system.
- The Digital Encyclopedia of Indianapolis is building an online site that will be far larger than the 1600+ page book printed in 1995. IEF staff is writing entries on central
- The Riverside/Near NW Neighborhood Organization and the Flanner House, partners in expanding the Wes Fest.
- The Timeless Music Project, partnering with IEF on at least two music events next year.
- Musical Family Tree has a remarkable amount of Indiana music on its site. More than 150 tracks from the MFT database have been added to the station.
- Indy Music Strategy is working to improve the Indianapolis live music scene. IEF provided input to their London consulting team, Sound Diplomacy.

Indiana Music Radio Is On The "Air"

You can listen online at Live 365, and/or download the free Live365 app to your tablet or smartphone. All Indiana music 24/7. It's easy to find, just search for Indiana Music within the app or Live365 website; it's the only station that fits that description. Find out how to submit your music. ## Did You Know?

...that Gennett Records of Richmond successfully sued the Victor Talking Company (later RCA Victor) in 1921 for the right to press 78 records, which had been patent protected?
